

CARRANZA FORCES IN FLIGHT FROM MEXICO CITY

Washington Gets Official Report of Excitement in Capital as Villa Approaches.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—American Consul Silliman, in a despatch filed in Mexico City at 8 o'clock last night, reported that Gen. Obregon's troops, the main body of the Carranza forces were entraining for Orizaba, and moving the offices of the Government with them.

Silliman added that the capital was in a state of great unrest and disquieting reports were being circulated.

Pressing southward at the head of an army eager for fight after months of recuperation, Gen. Villa will encounter little difficulty in reaching Mexico City, according to the opinion of American agents expressed in despatches reviewed to-day by Administration officials. Other reports told of the continuation of Villa's triumphant march, Queretaro, where a clash had been forecast, having been abandoned by the Carranza forces. Where they intended to make a stand was not indicated.

Queretaro is the only town of strategic importance between Mexico City and Aguascalientes, and it had been declared in reports from Carranza sources that Villa would have to battle near there the forces of Gen. Obregon and Gonzales. The city will be used by Villa, it is said, as a concentration center before the advance on Mexico City.

Officials to-day had given no indication of a change in their plans to terminate American rule in Vera Cruz next Monday. Arrangements had been made to bring Mexican priests and nuns to the United States on a government ship, and plans completed to effect the evacuation within forty-eight hours after the word was given.

ANOTHER TARZAN STORY!

Tarzan is back! "THE BEASTS OF TARZAN," a sequel to "TARZAN OF THE APES," by E. R. Burroughs, will begin in Monday's EVENING WORLD, Nov. 30. It will be the EVENING WORLD'S complete novel for that week.

"THE BEASTS OF TARZAN" tells of the Ape-Man's return to the jungle and of his amazing exploits among the wild animals which are his friends and foes. Read it.

TEACHER IS SUSPENDED FOR WRITING A LETTER

Chief Crime of Teacher-Mother Exponent Was in Sending It to "Funny Column?"

Charges of misconduct and insubordination were to-day served on Henrietta Rodman DeFreemery, the Wadleigh High School teacher and ardent partisan of the teacher-mothers. The charges accuse Miss Rodman—as she prefers to be known—with writing a letter to the (funny?) column of the Tribune, in which she referred to the Board of Education as "mother batters." By so doing, according to the charges, she exposed the members of the board to ridicule, both from the general public and the pupils in the schools. Miss Rodman is instructed to appear for trial before the High School Committee of the Board of Education, Dec. 1.

Two charges were prepared by Assistant Corporation Counsel McIntyre and were sent to Miss Rodman at her home by Secretary Palmer of the Board of Education. She is reported to be ill as a result of a nervous breakdown due to the teacher-mother controversy.

RUN DOWN BY AUTO TRUCK.

Driver Arrested for Failing to Have Lamps Lighted.

As George W. Robbins, sixty years old, of No. 163 East Twenty-seventh Street, started across Fourth Avenue at Twenty-sixth Street early to-day, he was struck by a United States Express Company auto-truck, operated by Joseph Ledone. Dr. Kellogg, who took Robbins to New York Hospital, found only bruises and small cuts to treat, and Robbins later went home.

It was not yet full daylight when the accident happened, and, because the lights were not burning on the auto-truck, Policeman Donovan of the East Twenty-second Street station handed Ledone a summons to appear in court to-day.

MAYOR PUT IN PERIL WHEN TRUCK HITS HIS AUTO; DRIVER IS FINED

Tongue of Wagon Pierces Tonneau of Car, but Mitchell Is Unhurt.

Details of an accident in which Mayor Mitchell was in danger of injury became public to-day when William Campbell, fifty years old, a driver of No. 1532 Seventy-sixth Street, Brooklyn, was arraigned in Harlem Court, charged with violating the ordinance relative to street traffic. The evidence showed Campbell's truck collided with the Mayor's automobile at One Hundred and Seventeenth Street and Lenox Avenue at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Patrolman Dillon of the West One Hundred and Twenty-third Street station handed Campbell a summons at the time of the accident. In court, Dillon said Campbell, turning west into West One Hundred and Seventeenth Street from Lenox Avenue, took a short cut across the car tracks instead of making a side turn, with the result that the tongue of the truck struck an automobile in which Mayor Mitchell and another man were riding downtown. The end of the tongue bored a hole in the left side of the tonneau of the Mayor's car, but did not touch the occupants.

The accident attracted a crowd, but outside of Policemen Dillon and Rice no one appeared to recognize the Mayor. After a short delay he proceeded on his way.

Campbell admitted to Magistrate Nolan he had made a short turn into West One Hundred and Seventeenth Street. He said he had been driving in the streets of New York for many years.

"I have never had any trouble," he said, "because I am careful. When I started to turn from Lenox Avenue yesterday this automobile was away up the street. It was running very fast and before I knew it was right in front of me."

Magistrate Nolan said that although Campbell might have endangered the life of Mayor Mitchell, he felt sure the Mayor would not, on that account, want the punishment that would be inflicted on any violator of a corporation ordinance. He fined Campbell $2.

"THIS IS A BOMB!" SHE SAID AND HARLEM HIT THE HIGH PLACES

"This is a bomb!" said a woman with a shawl over her head as she placed a neat brass cylinder with a screw top to it in the hands of David

E. Jacobs, a salesman, at No. 123 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street. "I found it in the street out there," she added, pointing to that portion of the highway known as One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street and Seventh Avenue. "I think I'll be going now."

She went. Mr. Jacobs emitted a low moaning sound and dropped the "bomb" into the gutter. A crowd collected—at a safe distance. Somebody started to turn in a fire alarm or call an ambulance.

But Mr. Jacobs is a brave man. "I will take this to the police station," he said after proper moments of precaution had passed and nothing had happened. He did. "This is a bomb," Mr. Jacobs explained as he laid the wicked brass cylinder on the desk before Lieut. Ray. The lieutenant arose from his swivel chair with alacrity. After he had come back from the street he doused the "bomb" in a pail of water. Then he summoned courage and examined it closely. The "bomb" was a handy automobile tool-case.
